

A real treat for vegetarians!

Puranmal is a vegetarian restaurant and it has replaced Rasraj, near Mithibai. Let me directly get down to the main points.

Ambience: 5/5

Food: 5/5

Service: 4/5

Damage: Rs 1,200/- for 4 people

I had gone to this place to visit Rasraj with my family, since they pretty much liked Rasraj. But, we had no idea that Rasraj had shut down and it was replaced by Puranmal. So, after thinking in the car for some time, we decided to check it out. As soon as we entered, I was shocked. The ambience was fabulous, and as compared to its previous occupant the place looks heaven.

There were a 5-6 staff at the lobby (entrance), so it becomes quite difficult to understand who's the maitre d'. But, they all tend to work in perfect synchronization to attend to the guests. After like 10 minutes, we got a table. Oh, while you await your table, you can check out the "mithai" section and also the chaat section.

We ordered dum aloo, lasooni palak, 8-10 different rotis for 4 people, and 1 dal tadka. The food was really delicious, and the quantity was okay. The only problem we faced, was the time taken to get the order. It took a little longer than expected. Also, the waiter forgot to place the order for the second vegetable, so it took some more time to come.

So, a little attention on the service, they can pretty much become one of the best places for vegetarians in Mumbai And also, they serve, Chinese, Italian, South Indian, Chaats, and authentic Indian sweets. So, next time probably for some other cuisine.

Ankit on <http://mumbai.burrrp.com/>

2011-02-20